Elective Course Options

Elective options allow students to focus on an area of interest within the broad scope of International Studies. Choose three 3-credit courses, in consultation with an International Studies adviser, that meet the requirements from one of the option areas listed below.

Every semester, a list of currently approved courses for each option is available from your adviser, the Center for International Studies office and the department website (<https://www.uwp.edu/learn/departments/internationalstudies/>). That list may include some of the core elective courses.

Students may also propose an individually designed option, subject to the approval of the Center for International Studies Steering Committee.

Option A - Globalization and Development

Focuses on the processes of political, economic, and sociocultural change that accompany globalization and development, with an emphasis on developing nations. Courses that traditionally fit well for this option come from the following disciplines: Communication, Economics, Environmental Studies, Finance, Geography, History, Political Science, Sustainable Management. However, consultation with advisers is highly recommended.

Option B - International Relations

Focuses on the major interactions among nations, including politics, trade and intercultural communication. Also includes consideration of international organizations and non-governmental organizations. Courses that traditionally fit well for this option should be drawn from the following disciplines: Criminal Justice, History, Political Science, Environmental Studies, Sustainable Management. However, consultation with advisers is highly recommended.

Option C - Comparative Cultures and Societies

Focuses on cross-cultural and comparative study of societies and cultures, including the arts, literature, politics, and social organization. Courses that traditionally fit well for this option come from the following disciplines: Communication, English, Geography, History, Political Science, Spanish, Sociology. However, consultation with advisers is highly recommended.

Option D - International Commerce

Focuses on commercial and economic relations among nations, including a business perspective as well as national economic policy. Courses that traditionally fit well for this option come from the following disciplines: Business, Economics, Finance, Management, Marketing, Sustainable Management. However, consultation with advisers is highly recommended.

University Requirements for Minors

Course work in the minor must be completed with the minimum GPA as specified by the department or program under which the minor falls, usually a 2.00 on a 4.00 scale, but higher in some programs. Transfer students must attain the minimum specified GPA on a combination of transfer credits accepted toward the minor and credits attempted at UW-Parkside.

At least half of the course work required for a minor must be completed at UW-Parkside.
